History:

In 2009, Rivington Winant and his wife Joan donated the 85-acre parcel to the City of Concord, for the creation of a park in honor of former New Hampshire Governor John Winant and his wife Constance. The conservation of the property was a collaborative effort between the Winants, the City, St. Paul's School, and the Five Rivers Conservation Trust.

The entrance to the park is located on St. Paul's School property on which an access and trail easement was conveyed to the City of Concord. The Five Rivers Conservation Trust holds a conservation easement on the 85-acre parcel.

In addition to the gift of the land, the Winants funded the construction of the trailhead, informational kiosk, and interpretive signs throughout the park. The kiosk and interpretive signs tell the life story of Governor John Winant. The trails include forested walking paths leading to a hilltop with open views towards the St. Paul's School campus and the easterly to the State House.
